- 1 tsp green tea leaves
- 1 cup boiling water
- 1 tbsp sugar (you can omit the sugar, it's mostly to help bind the ice to the liquid)
- 1/2 cup ice
- 1/4 cup boba (large pearl tapioca), cooked per package instructions and drained
- 1 blood orange, juice of
- 1 oz. raspberry purée

Steep the tea leaves in the hot water for 3-4 minutes. Strain the tea leaves out and stir a tablespoon of sugar into the hot tea. Let cool. When the tea is cooled, place in a blender with 1/2 cup ice (or more if you like slushier). Blend until slushy. Place the boba in a tall glass. Pour in the slush tea. Pour the blood orange juice and raspberry puree into the glass and stir until blended. Serves one.
